

Dear TWF friends

Join Our IWD Virtual Lunch and Innovate Equality with Us!

TWF is excited to be hosting our International Women's Day (IWD) Virtual Lunch on March 4, 2022! We are delighted to have the support of the Financial Times as an Associate Sponsor.

Although we find ourselves facing restrictions due to the pandemic, it is more important than ever that we come together as a community to virtually celebrate the strides that have been taken to advance gender equality, recognise the gaps that still remain, and commit to collectively taking action.

Under the theme Innovating Equality, we will explore the role of technology in driving gender equality through a creative and innovative lens, and celebrate the achievements of women in this sphere. The Virtual Lunch will have a wide array of inspiring speakers, heart-warming stories from our programme participants and more! We are thrilled to announce that our panel includes David Hanson, CEO and Founder, Hanson Robotics, and Sophia, the world's first robot citizen and the first robot Innovation Ambassador for the United Nations Development Programme.

We invite your organisation to join us for this exciting event. There are a range of sponsorship opportunities and other ways to support. Please contact Bernard.Lee@twfhk.org for more information. If you are keen to join as an individual, mark the date and watch this space for updated registration details.

Let's boldly innovate equality and break the bias, together.

PROGRAMME UPDATES

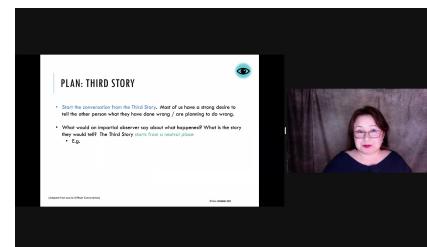

Reverse Mentoring Programme Launch

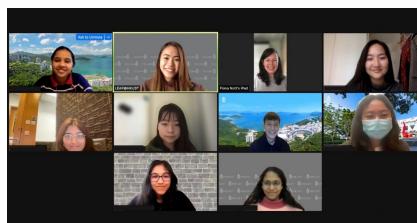

On January 18, we launched our 2022 Reverse Mentoring programme on Zoom. We are incredibly excited to bring together protégé graduates from our Mentoring Programme for Women Leaders as mentors with Male Allies as mentees. Thank you to a great group and to our 2020 Reverse Mentoring pair, Sharmeen Shroff | Central Minds and Alex Barnes | JLL, for a fantastic sharing as well!

Males Allies - Difficult Conversations Workshop

Thank you to mediator Sala Sihombing for leading an engaging and informative session on 'Difficult Conversations' for our Male Allies. They learned useful tools on how to identify personal values and preferences, plan the conversation, structure the communication, and manage emotions. Our Allies also put their learning into practice through role play!

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

TWF CEO speaks to HKUST Students

On Saturday, TWF CEO Fiona Nott, was interviewed by LEAP -- a school-supported student initiative aimed at promoting gender equality and inclusiveness at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology. The conversation covered a broad range of topics including challenges in advancing gender equality, strategies to encourage all individuals to embrace a gender equal mindset, and actions that students can take to actively promote gender equality within their university and beyond.

IN THE COMMUNITY

Towards an Inclusive & Diverse Workforce in Hong Kong

TWF is delighted to be a Supporting Organisation for the SCMP Conversations: Towards an Inclusive & Diverse Workforce in Hong Kong, organised by the SCMP. This half-day virtual event will feature critical conversations – including with TWF's CEO, Fiona Nott – on minorities, the disabled, and the less fortunate and discuss how our city can build a more inclusive and equitable workforce.

Date: Thursday, January 27

Time: 9am - 1.15pm
